Good paper, well written and appropriate structure. The number of references is somewhat large for such a short paper, perhaps the literature review section need to be expanded to include more substantial description of the references, this should strengthen the paper, but I leave it up to the authors to decide. The formatting is not exactly to the IJSSST template, i.e. one line spacing between paragraphs and no indentation of the first line in the paragraph, but authors must refer to the Journal website to confirm the format. Otherwise it is an excellent paper ready for publication.
